Summary

Axiom Manufacturing required a robust and secure IT network to support daily operations, production processes, and communication across facilities. With a focus on efficiency, reliability, and data protection, the company needed a trusted partner to manage and maintain its evolving network infrastructure.
Creative Networks delivers network support and managed firewall services, acting as Axiom's dedicated network partner. From ticket resolution to advanced firewall management, the company's systems remain secure, stable, and optimised for business performance.

The Challenge

With increased reliance on digital systems and remote access tools, Axiom required dependable network support to relieve internal pressures and ensure system uptime. Additionally, the company sought a robust firewall solution to protect sensitive production data and guard against cyber threats, while also maintaining network performance.

The Solution

Creative Networks provides ongoing network support and proactive firewall management, giving Axiom access to technical expertise without the overhead of expanding its internal team. Through a flexible support model, tickets can be raised for day to day issues, upgrades, or system checks, ensuring minimal disruption and quick resolution.
In addition, Creative Networks manages Axiom's enterprise-grade firewalls, maintaining strong perimeter security, enforcing access policies, and monitoring for potential threats. This layered approach ensures Axiom operates within a secure and compliant network environment.

The Benefits

Reliable Network Operations
Outsourced network support ensures system reliability and fast issue resolution, keeping production on track.

Managed Firewall Protection
Expert firewall management provides ongoing protection against threats and supports regulatory compliance.

Trusted Technical Partnership
A long-term relationship built on expertise and results makes Creative Networks a core part of Axiom's IT operations.

Scalable, Cost-Efficient Support
Support scales with business needs, offering cost-effective IT service delivery without compromising performance.

The Future

As Axiom Manufacturing continues to modernise its production environment and adopt more connected, data-driven technologies, demands on its network and security will only increase. Growing use of IoT, cloud platforms, and remote access will require even greater resilience, uptime, and protection for critical data. With Creative Networks as its long-term network and firewall partner, Axiom can confidently evolve its infrastructure—supporting future upgrades, security improvements, and new systems without stretching internal teams. Proactive monitoring, managed firewalls, and scalable support will keep the network secure, compliant, and ready for the next phase of growth.
